Hearing Aid Success Story Laurel, MD

H.P. – age 9 years: H.P. was diagnosed with hearing loss in the right ear since age 5 due to temporal bone malformation on that side. She has normal hearing in her left ear which has been monitored since that time. H.P. was recently fit with a small behind-the-ear hearing aid to help compensate for the significant hearing loss in her right ear.

Here is her success story: "My new hearing aid makes me happy, it helps me hear better out of my right ear. Everything is louder than it was before I got the hearing aid. Some of my friends ask me why I need to wear a hearing aid. I say because I don't hear very well in my right ear. I tell them it's just like wearing glasses, you need glasses to see better, it's the same thing...no big deal. I'm also glad to have parents who want the best for me and will do whatever it takes. Thank you Dr. King-Hecker for recommending it."

Hearing Aid Success Story—Bowie, MD

HEARING PROFESSIONALS
DOCTORS OF AUDIOLOGY
PERSONALIZED HEARING CARE & BALANCE CENTER

I knew my hearing was a little tricky because of the type of work I did for over 20 years. It drove my husband crazy that I was always asking him to repeat everything he said to me so after he relentlessly insisted that I get my hearing checked (again) I met Dr. Stacey Cole at Hearing Professionals.

My first impression of Dr. Cole (who I now refer to as Dr. Stacey) was that she was personable, warm, and receptive. I had a good feeling about her but it did not transform to having my hearing tested. I hate hearing tests because of late I never passed them with flying colors - so when I met Dr. Stacey, for some reason, I thought I would come out okay. The first thing she said to me after coming out of the coffin booth was something to the effect "Mrs. Sarvis, you are a mess; you missed everything!" (That was hard for me to accept, but I was cool). She was very professional and just told me straight up what was happening with my hearing and recommended that I do something about it while at the same time, she said the choice was totally mine. I didn't feel pressure to act but I really liked Dr. Stacey and the way she conducted her business, so 75% percent of my decision to get hearing aids was based on how I felt about her.

However, my vanity insisted that I get the tiniest aids on the market because I didn't want anyone to see that I couldn't hear. Dr. Stacey was gracious and did what I requested. Well, was that ever a bad move on my part! I lost one of them within 24 hours and was a total wreck behind it. I couldn't believe that I let one get away from me so fast!!! I literally fell apart in Dr. Stacey's office because I lost the aid (I call them plugs) almost on my way home from her office. It took her a minute but she got me to calm down and she reassured me that I was not the only person that lost a hearing aid (but I bet I was the first one to lose one within hours after receiving them!)

After I received my replacement ear piece, I think things just went from bad to worse. I really couldn't adjust to the aids and between not wearing them like I should, not checking in with Dr. Stacey on a regular basis and finally losing the remote that controlled my hearing comfort - I was going nowhere fast.

It took me about three years to finally call Dr. Stacey for an appointment because I thought my hearing aids (that I wasn't wearing anyhow) were "broke." Again she was gracious and tried not to reprimand me, but she was firm - "Why did you wait so long to get back in touch?" was the question, and yes, the hearing aids were in need of repair. Well, during our conversation she determined that I just was not ready to receive hearing aids and had not yet accepted the fact that I really needed them to hear (THE FIRST TIME AROUND). I agreed with her because I was very comfortable with saying "huh" to everybody that I just made do and didn't worry about it. The upshot of the visit was that this time I had to do things her way and agree to cooperate (by wearing the hearing aids like I should and keep up with my follow up visits). I gave her my word that I would be a "good patient" and to this day I have kept my word. I have accepted the "plugs" as a vital part of my life and look forward to checking in with Dr. Stacey as needed. It's amazing how loud the world actually is!!!! But I LOVVVVVE my Clear Passion hearing "plugs".

The only mishap I've had with these new hearing aids is I when I had a tip lodged in my ear that had been there for awhile. I kept trying to adjust the aids because everything was just sounding out of sync but thanks to Dr. Stacey, she found the problem and now I'm back on track. I'm so glad I met her. I think she's a wonderful person and I'm very pleased that she is in charge of my hearing situation. I highly recommend "Hearing Professionals" to anyone who wants caring and professional service.

Hearing Aid Success Story
California, MD Clinic

I was not able to hear soft voices and I realized that I might have a hearing loss. People were raising their voices to accommodate my hearing problem.

I found Hearing Professionals in the Yellow Pages, they were located close to home, so I made an appointment to have my hearing checked.

My hearing aid is comfortable, small, discrete and doesn't require any adjustments. My primary physician, when checking my ear, at first didn't realize I was wearing a hearing aid. No one notices my hearing aid.

I was familiar with the hearing aids from thirty years ago because my husband wore them. His was large, uncomfortable and they always required adjustments. My hearing aid is just the opposite. I put it in in the morning and forget it is there.

My recommendation for those that have a hearing loss is to have the hearing tested by a professional.

Hearing Aid Success Story Laurel, MD

T.D. — age 9 years

T.D. was diagnosed with hearing loss in both ears at the age of 4, following chemotherapy, which began at age 10 months. She has worn a behind-the-ear hearing aid since she was 4 years old, for the right ear only. T.D. was recently fit with a hearing aid behind each ear to compensate for her hearing loss in each ear. When asked how she feels about her new hearing aids and hearing in both ears... the first word out of her mouth was, "Awesome!!", with a big smile.

Here is her success story: "I love the way the hearing aids talk to me when the battery is low and when they turn on. They are my favorite colors, pink for the right ear and red for the left. Without my hearing aids in, everything is quiet. When I put them in, everything is loud and I hear a lot better. I also like that my Grandpa has hearing aids, too. He's just like me!"

Tinnitus Treatment Success!
Neuromonics—Waldorf, MD Clinic

“Try it, it works! I’m not completely sure how it works, but it does. Neuromonics has significantly improved my quality of life. I am now in control of my tinnitus. I am able to relax, read books to my grandchildren, fall asleep without the television turned on, and tolerate the radio in my car. My tinnitus used to make me feel agitated and prevented me from participating in activities. Now I can enjoy life. I would definitely recommend Neuromonics to patients suffering from tinnitus.”
